By
WALTER R. ROBB

The Townsend National Weekly is pouring from the presses in Chicago again. The June 14 issue came through the mails to Orange county subscribers Thursday and the assurance is now given that it will be printed each week as heretofore. The issue is crammed full of evidence that, as the writer surmised, the Townsend clubs over the nation in general are going to remain loyal to Dr. Townsend.

The weekly being received this week says that J. W. Brinton has made strenuous efforts to make impossible the continuance of the Townsend paper. Not only did he attempt to wreck the Townsend organization but he has also organized a rival one. According to the Townsend Weekly the incorporation papers for the new organization were filed in Indianapolis, Ind., on June 5, 1937. In the same article the statement is made that "On Friday, June 5, Mr. Brinton called the writer of these lines and informed him that a large group of representatives had agreed to take a stand with the new 'General Welfare' organization, as it was proposed to call it, and would no longer give any support to the wishes of Dr. Townsend, nor to any organization headed by him."

The article goes on to say that, "Since this statement was made, loyal representatives, correctly analyzing the situation, have notified Dr. Townsend that there is no change whatever in their stand. Indorsed by Townsend clubs, as many of them were, they 'propose to stand with these Townsend clubs as they promised to do in their campaign statements.'"

The writer of this column hopes this latter group included Representative Sheppard as he has undoubtedly been very aggressive in behalf of Townsend plan interests since going to Washington. It is doubtful if any other congressman from Orange county ever before won so much favorable recognition as has Sheppard in so short a time. If Sheppard shows the disposition to back up on his attitude toward Dr. Townsend as the national leader and will really continue to go to town for the general welfare bill and will take his stand against further centralization of power in the national executive, then this writer will still be for Sheppard. But if it proves that he has definitely and finally turned his back on the Townsend leader and his organization, then the writer will stick with Dr. Townsend and his organization, as he believes the majority of the 19th district Townsendites will also do. The rumors are that Sheppard may be in the district within a day or so. If so we will be able to get correct and positive information on the subject for the readers of this column.

The Garden Grove club will hold an ice cream supper in the American Legion hall of that city next Monday at 7:30 p. m. The message comes to this column from Hoyt Wyckoff, publicity chairman of the club, who says, "All friends are cordially invited to attend."

Grant Henderson was the speaker Thursday evening before Riverside Townsend club No. 8. He must be making some good speeches in that territory judging from the number of calls he has had recently from clubs there. He is president of Santa Ana club No. 11, which met last night in the Franklin school building.

Ted Felt, former Townsend state area manager of the 12th and 19th congressional districts, was in Santa Ana Thursday. He stopped at the writer's home to give but neither he nor Mrs. Robb was home, so he left a note which said, "Hello Mr. Robb: Would have liked to have had a chat with you. Everything is o. k. in L. A. Stand pat for Dr. Townsend. (Signed) Felt."

Orange club No. 1 is meeting Monday evening at Townsend hall at 149 South Glassell street with Walter R. Robb as speaker. J. A. Green will call the meeting to order at 7:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited, says Green.

Santa Ana club No. 2 meets Monday evening in Santa Ana Townsend hall at 7:30 o'clock with P. R. Long in the chair. The regular business session will be held and the membership is urged to be in attendance.

Iida M. Gage writes this column the accomplishments of Costa Mesa club No. 3 with the booth the club conducted at the recent bazaar. She says, "Club No. 3 had a miscellaneous booth consisting of fancy work, cooked foods and also served lunches. The booth was also

PAINT STORE FIRE PROBE STARTED

Quick Action Restricts Loss to $2000 Here Friday Night

A man and a woman rushed into the Broadway theater about 11 o'clock last night.

"There's a fire in a paint store at Fifth and Ross," they shouted breathlessly at Les Fountain, theater manager here. "Burning fast."

Fountain grabbed a telephone and called the fire department. Then he ran to his movie camera in the theater office. He heard the sirens of the engines screeching.

By the time he got to the blaze in the A-1 Auto Paint shop, there wasn't enough fire left to make much of a picture.

The loss was estimated today at $2000.

Investigation of the cause of the fire was under way today. Garrett Harman, occupant of the building, who said he had frequently found the front door of the shop unlocked in the mornings.

Herman also said $65 in cash had been destroyed in the blaze. Breaking out in the front of the store, the flames were shooting through the roof when the firemen arrived. They had the blaze under control inside of 15 minutes.

E. B. Sprague, owner, estimated a $1000 damage to the building. Herman estimated a similar damage had resulted to the contents of the shop.

nated by K. C. Burdick. The committee on decorations was assisted by Mrs. Harry Burdick. Those working in the bazaar were Mrs. W. Evans, Mrs. K. C. Burdick, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Alice Mullen and Miss Ida M. Gage. A profit of $62.75 was realized from sales. The club is indebted to many of the members for donations, who were unable to attend the bazaar. That's a mighty fine showing, it seems to the writer.

All Townsend clubs should not forget to have their delegate to the 19th district convention equipped with proper credentials. Remember the date, June 26, at Riverside. This is a very important happening for the Townsendites of the district and should be well attended and every club should send a delegate.

SCORES COURT COMPROMISE

"There can be no compromise on the supreme court change issue. There can be no compromise between right and wrong."

With these words, E. Neal Ames, Los Angeles attorney and state American Legion leader, told residents of Orange county to be on guard against proposed compromises in the supreme court issue.

The occasion was a meeting of the Orange county unit of the League for Supreme Court Independence, held in Daniger's cafe last night. Ames spoke in the absence of Jacob D. Allen, Chicago, who could not appear because of injuries sustained in an automobile accident near San Juan Capistrano.

Ames said the compromise proposal is for congress to grant the president power to appoint three justices instead of six. "I ask you," he said, "what is the difference? The end for which the bill was designed—the whipping of the supreme court and the destruction of its free and independent judgment—will have been accomplished. Our courts must be held free and impartial."

The meeting was arranged by Ben Tarver, chairman of the county unit, George Raymer and Jules Markel, Santa Ana chairman.

Assistance League To Be Installed

Santa Ana Assistance league, which recently adopted as a project the endowing of a child's bed at St. Joseph's hospital, staging a horse show as a benefit for the cause, will be formally installed into the Assistance League of Southern California Monday at a meeting at the home of Mrs. James Irvine on Myford road, Tustin.

Mrs. Irvine, who is president of the board of directors, founded the local league several years ago, and its first work was contributing to the support of the Ebell Day Nursery.

Reorganization took place this spring when the new project was adopted, and Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth was elected president.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Stocks drifted in varying directions in today's market and only a few were to show worthwhile progress.

Strike news, which had displayed some improvement with the appointment of a federal mediation board in the steel controversy, chilled trading sentiment again when Governor Earle of Pennsylvania declared martial law at Johnstown.

Wall Street apparently found confirmation of its previous conclusion that, even with government intervention to settle the unionization battle under way in plants of leading independent steel companies, amicable adjustment of the points at issue may be some distance away.

Attendance in the boardrooms was the smallest in weeks. The listage forward at the opening but light profit selling soon impeded extension of the advance.

MONTGOMERY, KORAL FACE SUSPENSION

Morse Hurls Fine Ball Visitors Get 16 Hits; Locals Err Freely

"DON'T QUOTE ME"—"I think I can finish Braddock in one round, but don't quote me," Joe (Brown Bomber) Louis told scribes in his Kenosha, Wis., training camp.

BOMBER PICKS HIMSELF IN ONE ROUND

By PAUL MICKELSON
KENOSHA, Wis. (AP)—Joe Louis observed the first anniversary of his knockout defeat by Max Schmeling today with the very unwilling prediction that he was confident he could knock James J. Braddock kicking within one round.

"I think I can get Braddock in one round," he drawled. "I feel a 100 per cent better than I did a year ago. I've learned a lot and punch as hard or harder than ever."

'Don't Quote Me'

A few minutes later, Joe, so I'm old, said he didn't want to be quoted on this round stuff because he thinks it's unlucky, but he said it.

If Louis makes good in his prediction he will smash all records for winning the most coveted and valuable prize for a monetary basis in sport. No man ever has won the crown within three years of campaigning and no man has succeeded in dethroning a champion within three minutes.

Most experts seem convinced Louis will have to polish off Braddock within one to four rounds or not at all. In the few fights Louis has been forced to work overtime, he has appeared listless and slow. Bob Pastor might have scored a victory over the bomber in their track meet because Joe was tired from the sixth round.

Up he, where Louis is reaching his peak with perfect timing, the belief is that Braddock, always a sure thing, will be a sure finisher, will try to stall and spend over the first four rounds and then open up if he lasts that long. So, Trainer Jack Blackburn expects to send the Bomber out swinging.

Must Watch Defense

"Joe's going to watch his defense," said Blackburn, "but he's going to crowd right in. I always say a man can get licked with one good punch if our idea is to have Joe get in the first lick."

Louis is a far different young fighter from a year ago.

He eats less and sleeps less. Also, he has learned to talk and to smile. A year ago, he was just a mean man. Today, he's a pleasant, young fellow.

LAGUNA CHAMBER WOULD 'TAP' BUSINESS FOR PUBLICITY DRIVE

WILL REQUEST COUNCIL TO OK PLAN

Special License Fee to Raise Funds Is Proposition

LAGUNA BEACH.—The chamber of commerce, represented by its newly-formed finance board, will meet with the city council next week to discuss matters pertaining to a Laguna publicity campaign.

The finance board, whose members consist of Frank Hever, Ada Purpus, John Jehle, Lloyd Seilset and Owen Williams, is expected to broach the plan to the council that an assessment be made on a business license fee basis and the money turned over to the chamber for expenditure.

According to tentative plans, the joint meeting will be held June 30, at a pre-council meeting session. The council will devote one-half hour's time to the discussion. It has been decided. How the council as a body feels about the plan has not been made official, although it is certain that the council's sentiments are divided, since some hold that the chamber is a quasi-public organization and should not use city funds.

G.G. CLUB GROUP IN LAST MEET

GARDEN GROVE.—As an annual climax to the study sessions of the past months, members of the Booklovers section of the Woman's Civic club of Garden Grove stage a picnic and play-day for the final meeting, with Alheim City park being chosen for the event, which was held there Friday. Mrs. E. G. Maier, Mrs. W. O. Broady and Mrs. B. A. Wisner were in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. A. F. Kearns, section leader of the past two years who will be succeeded by Mrs. Allen Goddard when sessions again are held in the fall, was presented a gift of pottery from the group, Mrs. Maier making the presentation.

Others attending included three guests, Mrs. E. E. Hall of Doris, Ariz., Mrs. Charles Ver Jones of Long Beach, and Mrs. Conrad Oertly; and members, the Mesdames J. G. McCracken, S. C. Oertly, J. H. Kirkham, E. E. Nichols, J. C. Farnsworth, W. H. Stennett, Francis Fairchild, R. E. Johnson, R. H. Williams, G. R. Reburn, A. C. Robbins, Harry Berman, Sr., Charles R. George and Genevieve Ford.

And then there's a gentleman from Santa Ana by the name of W. L. Smith. Mr. Smith went fishing off the pier yesterday and took home six halibut, Nic's.

And two ardent Costa Mesans, George (Stooge) Smith (these Smiths sure can fish!) and Harold Boyd caught 42 yellowfin and sea trout the other night in the bay. Things're looking up!

Yesterday on the barge off Newport pier, things were going in a big way. One husky gent, in two hours of fishing, brought up nine big barracuda. And there were lots of yellowtail caught, too.

The trolling boats have been going great guns. Quite a few yellowtails, lots of barracuda and some white sea bass and bonita.

Also, as for the live bait boats—well, I think that Bob Boyd, who's usually too busy selling boats to do anything else, could even catch fish now.

People young and old are snugging in edible varieties of marine life as fast as they can get bait in the water. From Darrell King, whose boats leave Newport pier each and every morning, comes most startling news of even more startling catches. Barracuda by the bagful. Yellowtail by the yard. Bass by the bucketful.

Lotsa fish, get the idea? And, from Sportfishing Headquarters along the Coast highway just below the Arches, things sound good, too. Good catches reported on every boat every day. Operators are started almost every afternoon when their well-filled craft come bubbling back up the bay with everyone lugging more fish than they can eat in a week.

As I said before, lotsa fish! The old story about "Wolf! Wolf!" is liable to come true

ALONG ORANGE WATER FRONT

Fair weather tomorrow. Nice breezes, lots of sunshine and about all schools in the 5.7 fathoms. The atmosphere situation seems to have reached a point where amateurs can do a bit of predicting that'll come out correctly. Tomorrow'll be in the morning and fair-to-middlin' sailing winds in the afternoon.

Now, dern ye, g ahead and rain!

One very lovely high tide tomorrow for surf and bay fishermen. At 6:47 p. m. it'll be 5.7 fathoms. High in the morning, too, if you're interested—7:55 a. m. Two lows, the nasty things—1:39 a. m. and 12:25 p. m., which won't make much difference unless you want to dig clams or something.

In the bay things have been getting better again. Lots of spottin caught on the peninsula side from the pavilion clear down to the jetty. But I'll still take the Corona del Mar side, opposite where the "Stranger" docks when she's in port.

Corbina have been starting up again in the surf. The Lylin Scotsman, bait-seller de-luxe, reports some nice catches in the vicinity of the Newport pier. Good sized ones. Sand crabs for bait. Nineteenth street is still good for yellowfin, too. Clams and anchovies. Mostly anchovies.

Katie, bar the door! The spotfin are biting in the surf! At least, one was. And was he sorry!

I was talking to this poetic, bait-selling Scotsman down at Newport and a young fellow comes in, all a-shuff and a-shuff. "Guy, just caught a seven auna half pound spotfin down at 19th street," he gasped, and fell fainting to the floor. No, that's not right, but he gasped, anyway.

And it seems he was telling the truth. The big spottie bit on anchovies, too.

FLAG BATTLE MIDWAY CITY STIRRS. C. LAND SALES ARE UP

SAN CLEMENTE.—An eloquent appeal was made to the city council at its meeting Wednesday evening by Fred Abel, who demanded that the American flag be displayed from a mast over the city hall on all occasions to indicate to all comers that the people of San Clemente are red-blooded patriots.

Abel said he had served through three wars and was shocked at the lack of patriotic display on the part of the city fathers. He was informed the city owned a large flag and the materials are on hand for the erection of a flagpole, which will be taken care of immediately.

The council took action to authorize advertising for bids on water meters which are to be installed at all residences and places of business at once. It is estimated that 30 meters can be installed each month until the entire city is supplied.

An ordinance was introduced creating the office of water superintendent and outlining the rates to be charged under the meter system. The ordinance will come up for final reading and vote at meeting July 7. The council scheduled under advisement request that a city rifle range be established for the use of citizens interested in shooting. Miss Lillian V. Coe was appointed a committee of one to obtain information and suggestions and report at the next meeting.

Like this trip. He went out on the "Sea Scout," the huge water taxi. He troled for hours and pulled in six smallish barracuda.

I'm told that in a picture of these punny fish, taken on the wide deck of the boat, they look like needles in the well-known haystack.

Steve said that if he'd been able to catch three more he'd have taken enough home for supper!

There's an argument getting all ready to arrive at Newport. Sam Meyer will probably be the cause, too. He printed a story in his paper this week about R. S. Downing in his speedboat "Theo Robins," (funny name for a boat, huh?) making some sort of a record between Newport and Balboa piers. Five minutes and 50 seconds.

Wait until Bob Boyd, the aforementioned yacht broker, hears about that! Bob claims that a brand of boat he carries can go much faster per acre—10 is it yard?—than any thing Downing can put in the water with one of those buzzy little V-8 motors in it.

And it seems he was telling the truth. The big spottie bit on anchovies, too.

240 GRADUATE AT HIGH IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON.—"So live that the law of thy life may become the law of the universe." Dr. Walter F. Dexter, state superintendent of public instruction, quoted to members of the 1937 graduating class of Fullerton Union High school at the exercises held on the school lawn yesterday at 4:30 p. m.

The 270 students, gowned in grey robes, formed a beautiful background for the exercises as they sat on the platform.

The school band opened the program with music. Dr. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the Fullerton Presbyterian church, offered the invocation. The girls' glee club sang "Let All My Life Be Music" by Spross, and "Homing" by Del Riego.

"New Opportunities for Youth" was the valedictory address given by Miss Barbara Bergen.

Superintendent Louis E. Plummer then introduced Dr. Dexter who asked the graduates to think of man, not in the sense of his chemical value which if reduced to material substance would be worth but 98 cents, but as being the highest possible expression of universal world energy.

Superintendent Plummer then presented the class to Fred Johnson, president of the board of trustees, who awarded the diplomas. Alcyonians, members of the National Honor society, and students who earned the gold seal of the California Scholarship federation, were introduced to the audience.

O'BRIEN, FONDA STAR IN 'SLIM,' OPENING AT BROADWAY SUNDAY

STORY ABOUT POWER LINE WORKERS

"Slim," a story of the colorful and perilous lives of high-tension linemen who string power wires over mountains and deserts, will open an engagement at the Broadway theater tomorrow, sharing honors with a second feature, "There Goes My Girl," swift-paced newspaper drama.

With Pat O'Brien, Henry Fonda, Margaret Lindsay, Stuart Erwin and J. Farrell MacDonald in the leading roles, "Slim" tells the story of two pals on a crew engaged in dangerous high-tension work who fall in love with the same girl, a nurse, played by Miss Lindsay. Fonda has the title role in the film. "Slim" was adapted from the best-selling novel of the same name by William Wister Haines. In the film version O'Brien is said to have the most powerful role of his career as "Red," who sacrifices everything the world holds dear to him for his pal, including love and his life.

A city editor scoops his own newspaper and doubts his star reporter as a means of breaking up her romance in "There Goes My Girl," co-starring Gene Raymond and Ann Sothern. Newspaper rivalry hasn't prevented the two rival reporters from falling deeply in love, but Richard Lane, in the role of Ann's city editor, does his best to break up the romance and keep his star reporter on the job.

A shooting breaks up the wedding and separates them until the girl reporter learns that it was framed by the city editor. Furious at her boss, she tries to straighten out the love tangle with Raymond, but once again the pesky city editor interferes. The two stars are supported by a cast which includes Gordon Jones, Frank Jenks, Bradley Page and others.

Selected short subjects on the program will include a popular Pete Smith oddity, "The Grand Bounce," a cartoon and World News.

'LIGHT BRIGADE' FOR WALKER'S

Topped by the great romantic drama, "Charge of the Light Brigade," next week's program at both Walker's and the State theater present an outstanding menu of entertainment for film fans.

"Charge of the Light Brigade," starring Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland, opens Thursday at Walker's for a three-day engagement, with "Song of the City" as the second feature, starring Margaret Lindsay and Jeffrey Dean.

"Outcast" with Warren William and Karen Morley and "Fair Warning" with Betty Furness and Ivan Lebedeff will be shown Wednesday and Thursday at the State, and the feature Friday at the State is "Dodge City Trail," starring Charles Starrett.

Programs at both theaters will be rounded out with comedies, musical and novelty short subjects, cartoons, a serial and newsreels.

Big Films Booked For West Coast

"Another Dawn," romantic film with Kay Francis, Errol Flynn and Ian Hunter, will open an engagement at the West Coast theater June 27 with a second feature, "Hotel Haywire."

"Another Dawn" is a film story of a small British garrison in wild and picturesque Iraq, Arabia. "Hotel Haywire" is a balmy comedy of star-gazing and hotel mismanagement, featuring a cast which includes Leo Carrillo, Lynne Verma, Mary Carlisle, Spring Byington, John Patterson, Porter Hall, Chester Conklin and many others.

Following this bill, the West Coast is scheduled to present on June 30 a double-feature program with "The Emperor's Candlesticks," recently previewed here, and with a cast including William Powell, Louise Rainer, Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan, Frank Morgan and other prominent players. It is a picture of intrigue and dangerous romance. The second feature on this bill will be "The Great Hospital Mystery," new farcial thriller featuring Jane Darwell, Sig Ruman, Sally Blane, Thomas Beck and Joan Davis.

Burns And Raye In New Comedy

Two of radio's favorite entertainers, Bob Burns and Martha Raye, will be in town beginning Sunday, June 27, when "Mountain Music," hailed as a gay comedy of life, love and laughter among the hill billies, plays at the Broadway theater.

Although the pair has been teamed before in two comedy hits "Mountain Music" is the first time the two have been rated as stars. It is a story of the Ozark mountain folk, satirically handled, well spiced with mountain music and high comedy. The cast includes John Howard, Terry Walker, George Hayes, Fuzzy Knight, Jan Duggan and Rufe Davis.

Second picture on this bill will be "Behind the Headlines," in which Lee Tracy is starred as a radio newsgatherer, and Diana Gibson is featured as his rival, a reporter from a newspaper.

'ANTHONY' AT WALKER'S SUNDAY

Brought to the screen as one of the outstanding productions of the year, "Anthony Adverse" opens a four-day engagement Sunday at Walker's theater with Fredric March playing the title role.

"Anthony Adverse" is Harvey Allen's best seller of a waif who grew up to know adversity, love, adventure, power and wealth, but who, having known all these things, goes searching for something he cannot define, accompanied by his young son to help him seek it.

It is the story of a boy born out of wedlock and adopted by a rich merchant who turns out to be his grandfather. His only real love is the daughter of his grandfather's servants. They are married and live together only one night when adventure calls him to the four corners of the earth. He returns years later to discover his wife the favorite of Napoleon.

Olivia de Havilland portrays the role of his wife. Others prominent in the cast are Edmund Gwenn, Claude Rains, Anita Louise, Louis Hayward, Gale Sondergaard, Steffi Duna, Billy Mauch, Donald Woods and Henry O'Neill.

"Way Out West" is the second feature on Walker's bill. It is a comedy western starring Laurel and Hardy as two nit-wits who have a hard time delivering to an orphan girl a deed to a valuable mine bequeathed her by her father. They are aided by a cast that includes Sharon Lynne, James Finlayson, Rosina Lawrence and Stanley Fields.

To round out the program there will be a Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Mickey's Amateurs," and a newsreel.

'SLAVE SHIP' IS COMING TO WEST COAST WEDNESDAY

A spectacular drama that sweeps over half the world, "Slave Ship," co-starring Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery, will open at the West Coast theater next Wednesday with "Flyaway Baby," starring Glenda Farrell and Barton MacLane.

"Slave Ship" pictures the adventures of the last slave, as, with mutiny reddening the decks, it sails on its final desperate voyage. A ship of horror, the slave ship also carries Elizabeth Rooney, who boards the vessel for a honeymoon and finds, too late, that she is off on a trip that brings her

Twin Bill Now At Broadway Ends Tonight

"As Good As Married," comedy drama featuring John Boles and Doris Nolan, shows for the last time tonight at the Broadway theater with a second feature, "You Can't Beat Love," starring Preston Foster.

The story of "As Good As Married" centers around the unique efforts of a successful young architect to save money on his income tax by marrying his beautiful secretary, who really is in love with him. The cast also features Walter Pidgeon, Tala Birell and Alan Mowbray.

Preston Foster has a sympathetic and different role in "You Can't Beat Love." It presents him as a sportsman reformer of civic politics, who campaigns against the incumbent mayor, father of the girl with whom he falls in love, but after a series of hilarious happenings, he turns the election over to his opponent after exposing the mayor's grafting henchmen. Joan Fontaine shares honors in the romance.

Latest issue of the March of Time, a Terrytoon cartoon and World News events complete the program.

Comedian's Wife Wins Judgment

NEW YORK (AP)—A $13,600 judgment of Mrs. Ethel Butterworth, wife of screen comedian Charlie Butterworth, against the Home Insurance company was affirmed Friday by the appellate division of the supreme court.

Mrs. Butterworth had insured jewelry with the company. Trial testimony was that the company offered to pay Mrs. Butterworth

NEW DOUBLE BILL SUNDAY AT STATE

Comedy, romance, adventure and thrills are contained in full measure on the State theater's big double bill which starts Sunday for an engagement of three days. The two features booked are "Wings of the Morning" and "Park Avenue Logger."

"Wings of the Morning" is an all-color picture produced in England, and starring Henry Fonda and Annabella, continental screen find. It is the story of a gypsy girl of noble blood who falls in love with a wealthy young Canadian visiting relatives in Ireland. Much of the action centers about a great race horse owned by the girl's gypsy grandmother and one equally as great owned by the young Canadian, who makes a great sacrifice in the race because of his love for the girl and respect for her grandmother.

Others in the cast are Leslie Banks, Stewart Rome, Steve Donoghue, the famous jockey, John McCormack, notable tenor, and featured English actors.

George O'Brien is starred in "Park Avenue Logger," the story of a young socialite sent by his father to a logging camp that he may "become a man." The father, however, doesn't know his son is a masked champion.

Action develops in the timber country when two crooked timber bosses frame him and try to run him out of the country.

In the cast with O'Brien are Beatrice Roberts, Willard Robertson, Ward Bond, Bert Hanlon, Lloyd Ingraham and Robert E. O'Connor.

Chapter No. 6 of "Ace Drummond" rounds out the program.

'SLAVE SHIP' IS COMING TO WEST COAST WEDNESDAY

A spectacular drama that sweeps over half the world, "Slave Ship," co-starring Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery, will open at the West Coast theater next Wednesday with "Flyaway Baby," starring Glenda Farrell and Barton MacLane.

"Slave Ship" pictures the adventures of the last slave, as, with mutiny reddening the decks, it sails on its final desperate voyage. A ship of horror, the slave ship also carries Elizabeth Rooney, who boards the vessel for a honeymoon and finds, too late, that she is off on a trip that brings her

YOUNG STAR OF NEW COMEDY

Teaming Robert Young and Florence Rice for the third time, "Married Before Breakfast" will open an engagement at the Broadway theater next Thursday with a second feature, "Meet the Missus."

As a carefree young inventor in "Married Before Breakfast," Young becomes enmeshed in a series of laugh-provoking adventures with Miss Rice, Barnett Parker, as Young's valet, is responsible for much of the comedy. Other featured roles include June Clayworth and Hugh Marlowe. Principal sets for the picture include a palatial Fifth avenue mansion, a swank hotel suite, a boarding house and travel agency.

Victor Moore and Helen Broderick are co-starred in "Meet the Missus," a hilarious comedy which deals with the happenings during a convention at Atlantic City where regions of women are gathered to compete for the title of the Average American Housewife, or "Missus America." Anne Shirley and Alan Bruce have the romantic leads.

CRAZY BUSINESS—Groucho, Harpo and Chico Marx are shown above in a scene from their latest and funniest comedy, "A Day at the Races," now showing at the West Coast theater along with a second feature, "That I May Live," starring Rochelle Hudson and Robert Kent in a new romantic drama.

SOCIETY LOGGER—George O'Brien and Beatrice Roberts are pictured here in a scene from "Park Avenue Logger," coming to the State theater Sunday for an engagement of three days, with "Wings of the Morning" as the other feature on the bill.

3 MARX BROS. 'RIOTING' AT WEST COAST

They're off!

Not only the horses, but the three Marx Brothers as well are "off" in their latest comedy riot, "A Day at the Races," featured attraction at the West Coast theater. Second feature on the program is "That I May Live," starring Rochelle Hudson and Robert Kent.

The mad Marx Brothers spent an entire year in preparation of the plot for this film, and to develop the hilarious gags and unique comedy situations. The comedy stars and their staff of writers worked for five months preparing the script for "A Day at the Races." This script was made into a stage production, and was tried out in five cities before the company returned to place the finished product before cameras.

Appearing in support of Groucho, Harpo and Chico in the new laugh-extravaganza are Maureen O'Sullivan and Allan Jones in the romantic leads, and Margaret Dumbrille, who plays a horse doctor who takes charge of a sanitarium owned by Miss O'Sullivan, and who tries desperately to keep the villain, Dumbrille, from foreclosing a mortgage.

Jones plays the struggling singer who owns a race horse, which finally become involved in a steeplechase, a thrilling but comical event. Jones sings several new song hits in the picture. In one glamorous production sequence he sings from a barge at a water carnival, while the audience is seated on rafts.

An unusual locale was chosen for "That I May Live," romantic drama. The action is confined almost entirely to Paris and Camps. Miss Hudson and Kent play a young couple who cling desperately to each other in the face of constant danger, the young husband having been accused falsely of murder.

LAYS HARLOW DEATH TO SUNBURN

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A severe sunburn the late Jean Harlow incurred a year ago was an important factor in her death, a speaker at the University of Southern California Institute of Government indicated yesterday.

The reference came when Henry M. Busch, head of the division of social science at Cleveland College, was discussing the folly of too ardent exercise and exposure to the sun on the part of health-seeking adults.

Busch did not refer to Miss Harlow by name. He said: "I have been talking with several intimate friends of a famous Hollywood star and they told me her body was almost completely covered by scar tissue as a result of a very severe sunburn she suffered."

"This scar tissue prevented her body from functioning through the pores of the skin, and with the result that too much of a strain was thrown upon the kidneys, causing uric acid poisoning and finally, death."

KYNE FACES TAX LIEN

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The government today billed author Peter B. Kyne and his wife, Helen, for $58,084. The income tax lien filed against them set forth that they owed that amount for additional income taxes due. The Kyne's are residents of San Francisco now.

Lavish Affairs Yesterday Welcome Bride and Bid Farewell to Travelers

Mrs. Calvin Flint And Miss Club Affair Marian Bruner Honored Draws Many Guests

Gracious hospitality was extended yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Calvin Flint when she entertained at tea from three to five o'clock in her lovely new home on Heliotrope Drive. Cards were issued to five score prominent Santa Anans to compliment Mrs. Calvin Flint (Rose Marie Smith) and Miss Marian Bruner, who leave this week-end for a summer in Europe. In company with Mr. Flint and a college friend of Miss Bruner's they will sail Saturday aboard the S.S. Rex, going first to Italy. After several weeks there they will separate, Mr. and Mrs. Flint going on into Yugoslavia for intensive study of that country, and the other two planning a wandering trip into Germany and France.

Additional incentive was given Mrs. Smith for the affair in that it was also a formal housewarming on her part. After guests were received by the hostess and two guests of honor in the foyer, they strolled through spacious rooms, beautifully decorated with great baskets, copper and Wedgwood jardiniere of fragrant blooms.

A gleaming samovar occupied the dominant position on the tea table at which Mrs. D. K. Hammond and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh took turns in presiding. Assisting in serving were Miss Preble Drake, Mrs. H. C. Flint of Long Beach, and Mrs. Ridley Smith.

Opening up from the long living-room was a tiled patio, with colorful petunia borders separating it from the emerald lawn of the garden. In this lovely spot were grouped members of a string quartet, whose music was heard during the afternoon. Here too were Miss Roberta Tuttle and Miss Myrle Bear, who presided over punch and wafers to supplement the tea course.

Guests of Mrs. Smith during the afternoon were the Mesdames Ella Campeau, John Cloyes, George Smith, E. B. Sprague, S. A. Jones, F. E. Coulter, Perry Lewis, T. E. Winigler, Earl Abney, Rola Hays, Emily Munro, Alice Brownridge, John Brown Mason.

The Mesdames D. J. Hammond, John Tessmann, Robert Northcross, Wayne Bartholomew, Ridley Smith, John Henderson, Dewitt Dudley, Robert Guld, Manley Noland, Howard Curran, B. J. McMullen, Albert Payne, J. L. Maccom, H. L. Bascom, Edith Pithu, John Newman, Clarence Crookshank, A. C. Cruickshank, S. H. Bradley, Arthur Wade, J. E. Paul, J. T. Wilson.

The Mesdames C. P. Boyer, W. F. Harrison, S. W. Nau, F. H. Eley, J. E. Liebig, L. G. Swales, Paul Bailey, Maxwell Burke, S. M. Davis, Charles Druitt, L. M. Forney, Clarence Gustlin, Alice Hatch, Aldric Worswick, W. E. Otis, Alan Revell, S. W. Stanley, B. H. Sharless, Terry Stephenson, Ralph Smedley, P. R. Reynolds, Cassius Paul.

The Mesdames Fred Ferry, E. F. Elstrom, Braden Finch, Walter Spicer, Harold Rhoades, Elwood Bear, James Eugene Walker, Gail Jordan, Earl P. Hoisington, Russell Reagan, John P. Scripps, Crawford Nalle, Emrys White, Timmy White, Jr., Milan Miller, John McCoy, Allison Honer, Horace Leeling, Leslie Steffensen, Leonard Auer, Wendell Finley, Raymond Treverrow.

TEACHER FETED BY STUDENTS

The fact that D. W. Stover is leaving Santa Ana, where he has been band and orchestra director in the high school this year, gave rise to a pleasant surprise party in his honor this week when some of his pupils gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Noble, 1416 Spurgeon street.

An evening of games and music followed, with refreshments served later. A beautiful baton was presented Mr. Stover by the group, with George Hyde making the presentation speech.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Stover, Gordon Garnett, Victor Allemen, Roy Correy, Richard Ladiges, Pauline Ladiges, C. R. Lemons, Opal Dargatz, Irene Noble, David Swartz, Lois Wiman, Eloise Sullivan, Marjorie Pederson, Regine Clark, Marvin Ashford, George Hyde, Milton Asher, Charles Laxton, Jane Noble and Bob Noble.

PAST SYCAMORE HEADS POTLUCK

Sycamore Past Noble Grands had an enjoyable potluck luncheon this week in the garden of Mrs. E. A. Elwell's home at 907 Lowell street. Small tables were set on the shady lawn, each centered with a bouquet of the lovely flowers that were growing near by.

Present were the Mesdames Florence Crawford, Leola Dietrich, Lillian Ellis, Teresa Dunning, Millie West, Kate Rinsched, Martha Taylor, Fannie Rose, Amanda Holmes, Fannie Taylor, Roda Ramon, Inez Baker, and two guests, Miss Barbara Wolfe of Fotterville and Miss Betty Van Meter, granddaughter of Mrs. Taylor.

The group will have another potluck July 15 at Huntington Beach.

DOROTHY CROMER, above, will become Mrs. Harold H. Harvey tonight in a quiet wedding which is to be solemnized in the home of her parents in San Diego. After a honeymoon, the couple will return to Orange county, where the bridegroom has lived most of his life, to make their home.

MRS. CHARLES A. LORING, below, was Miss Ruth Jenkins before her marriage this week in Sausalito, when she exchanged marriage vows with a young San Francisco law student. The couple are honeymooning now in the north, and will make their home in the Bay city, where the bridegroom is studying law and working in a law office. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jenkins of North Towner street, Santa Ana.

EIGHT COUPLES ENJOY BRIDGE

Lovely shasta daisies and colorful sweet peas from the garden of Mrs. John Turton decorated the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lippincott at 1061 West Fourth street Thursday night when they entertained their bridge club.

Mrs. Lippincott awarded high score prizes to Mrs. John Cozad and Jesse Wright, and low score to Mrs. Earl Lepper and Ralph Mitchell.

A late refreshment course was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. John Turton, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lepper, and Mrs. Jesse Wright, Mr. and Mrs. John Cozad, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Couch and the host and hostess.

TOROSA PAST HEADS MEET

The home of Mrs. Minnie Squires was the setting Thursday afternoon for the monthly session of Torosa Rebekah Past Noble Grands. Members enjoyed a delicious potluck lunch and social time.

Those present were co-hostesses Mrs. Estelle Grey and Mrs. Gladys McDonald, and the Mesdames Mary Kuhl, Eleanor Pickle, Laura Tramel, Mary Cooper, Jean Tremble, Fannie M. Lacy, Blanche Chandler, Lottie Lyman, Ada Spencer, Leola Talbott, Martha McKee, Ethel Brown, Arlie Cain, Mary Hertert, Lucille Rathburn, and Martha Vandewalker. Mrs. Tramel is president of the group.

D. U. V'S TO MEET

Daughters of Union Veterans are to have a tea towel shower and cooked food sale after their regular meeting scheduled for 2 p. m. Tuesday in the M. W. A. hall.

One of the several large and delightful activities occupying yesterday afternoon was the monthly bridge party at the Santa Ana Country Club which had 25 tables in play.

Special invitation had been extended to Elks' ladies, who created a pleasant addition to the many members and other guests.

Presiding over the long tea-table, banked with pink and blue petunias, were half a dozen prominent matrons, among them Mrs. Harold Brown in a gown of blue with American Beauty jacket; Mrs. B. F. McClure in turquoise blue crepe; Mrs. C. V. Doty in a blue-toned print; Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus in light green and white print; Dr. Hester Olewiler in flowered print with duobunnet accessories; and Mrs. Charles V. Davis in a black and white print.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Charles Cogan in a lovely frock of white crepe with navy accents; Mrs. Frank Drumm in a ruffled flowered organza; and Mrs. Ralph Cole, in dusty pink lace.

High score prizes at contract were awarded Mrs. Lyle Anderson and Mrs. Davis, while Mrs. Nella Hollopeter won high at auction. Lucky prizes went to Mrs. Herbert Allemen, and Mrs. George Miles.

FULLERTON PAIR WED IN LOVELY CEREMONY

A romance which blossomed on the campus of the Fullerton Union High school and District Junior college was culminated last evening for Doris Elizabeth Eden, for several years secretary to Dean W. T. Boyce, and E. F. A. Nelson, formerly of Hurley, Wis., now a member of the Fullerton High school and Junior college faculty. They said their marriage vows before friends and relatives at the Fullerton Methodist church last evening.

The Rev. Virgil K. Ledbetter of Colton, officiated. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Marion Eden of Lake Arrowhead, wore a gown of azure blue mousseline de sole over taffeta. A finger-tip length veil of azure blue tulle was held to her head with a narrow circlet of pink flowers. A colonial bouquet with a center of pink camellias against a background of lilacs-of-the-valley was carried.

Mrs. Charles F. Waldo of Anaheim, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore tearose lace over taffeta.

Mrs. George H. Schroeder of Santa Ana, wearing corn yellow lace over taffeta, with lace mitts to match, carried Transvaal daisies shading from pink to rose. Mrs. John E. Eden of Anaheim, whose dress was exactly like Mrs. Schroeder's as to color, style and fabric, served as bridesmaid.

Logan W. Wheatley was best man. Charles Waldo of Anaheim, George H. Schroeder of Santa Ana, Ted E. Puls of Garden Grove, and John E. Eden of Anaheim, served as ushers.

Reception for close relatives and friends followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted E. Puls in Garden Grove, and later the couple left for a month's northern trip. They will make their home in Fullerton. The groom is the son of Mrs. Alexander Nelson of Ironwood, Mich., is a graduate of the Stout Institute, a member of Epsilon Pi Tau and Kappa Phi Sigma, and active in the Fullerton 20-30 club.

BOOK CLUB AT DAUGHTER HOME

Mrs. M. R. Daughters was hostess to the Friday Book club yesterday at her home at 2041 North Ross street, when Mrs. Luella Blackburn reviewed "The Life of King Edward VIII" by Hector Bolitho.

A roll call of members brought responses of the most worthwhile books read by the members through the month, and discussion followed while the hostess served a fruit drink and ice chocolate to the guests. Members present were Mrs. Blackburn, Mrs. J. H. Bower, Mrs. W. J. Davison, Mrs. F. E. Earel, Mrs. E. C. Frander, Mrs. E. D. Froeschel, Mrs. R. I. Matthews, Mrs. F. R. Schweitzer, Mrs. H. S. Taylor, Mrs. A. H. Theal, and the hostess.

LEAGUE GROUP BAKES STEAKS

Epworth league of the First Methodist Episcopal church had a jelly steak bake in Irvine park Wednesday evening, each family contributing to the meal. After dinner, the group bicycled in the moonlight up to Santiago dam.

Winding up Junior Ebell's successful year, Mrs. Crawford Nalle, retiring president, gathered her executive board members around her. She is shown seated in the center of the group in the clubhouse patio. She will serve as leader of Garden section next year. Standing, from left to right, are Miss Anne Tarver, director, and future bride of Tevis Westgate; Mrs. George Bradley, hospitality chairman; Mrs. Colby McKinney, former treasurer; Mrs. John Newman, historian; Mrs. George Walker, courtesy chairman and next year's News Letter editor.

Seated are Mrs. Robert Guild, parliamentarian and next year's first vice-president; Mrs. Herbert Stroschein, re-elected treasurer; Mrs. C. Harold Dale, retiring first vice-president; Mrs. Nalle; Mrs. E. Lee Smith, secretary and next year's leader of Contract section; Mrs. Charles McDaniel, curator and next year's director; Mrs. Q. L. Hardy, News Letter editor.

"Shipboard" Party For Couple Chat Awhile With Betty Tea Is Pretty Farewell Event

Anticipation of departure of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Flint next Monday on the S. S. Rex for a summer in Italy and Jugo-Slavia was given added flavor last night when they and other invited guests went up the gangplank of a landbound S. S. Rex for a gay bon voyage party presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Braden Finch.

The ship was the Finch home on Panorama Heights. A miniature gangplank led up the steps into the "ship," and the voyagers were directed first to the Fiesta Lounge where they signed the register and received tags telling them their class assignments.

Four peasants, Mr. Flint, John Scripps, Mrs. Finch, and Ed. Elstrom, occupied the table in steerage, wearing bandanas on their heads. In third class were two brother missionaries, Donald Buton and Milan Miller, and two Chinese girls, Mrs. Scripps and Mrs. Elstrom; in second class, a family from Kansas, with Mrs. Loyal King and Wendell Finley as the mother and father and Mr. King and Mrs. Miller as the twins; and in first class, at the table of the captain, Mr. Finch, were the duchess, Mrs. Flint; a prima donna, Mrs. Paul Bodenhamer, and an African explorer, Mr. Bodenhamer.

Each guest was assigned appropriate headgear for his or her role and served with food according to the station in life. During the real dinner, served after the preliminaries, each was called on for an impromptu stunt, and prizes were given to the winners.

Informal games followed, during which each of the guests signed a contract to send a message to the Flints at some time during their voyage this summer.

TWO GRADES AT HOOVER SCHOOL HONORED

Mrs. Otto Schroeder, grade mother of the sixth grade at Hoover school, and Mrs. Walter Sorenson, grade mother of the fifth grade, joined in giving a party for the children Thursday afternoon.

Tables were arranged in the library of the school, with long rectangular tables with pink and white center and nut cups in various colors.

The sixth grade table was presided over by Miss Doris Schenck, and the principal, Miss Isabel Lindsay, presided at the one for the fifth graders. Miss Schenck is teacher of both grades.

After the delicious refreshment course, the sixth graders, who are graduating into junior high school this week, presented Miss Schenck with a lovely blue pottery flower holder.

Mrs. Schroeder and Mrs. Sorenson had provided individual ice and little casks with the figures, "1937," written in the frosting.

"Oh, what is so rare as a (wedding) day (not) in June?"—is what we're beginning to wonder, what with at least six weddings this week-end and an average of one for every day next week.

Wedding bells are to ring tonight for Dorothy Cromer and Harold Harvey (in San Diego), for Frances Dawson and Ralph Osterode (in Fresno), and for Helen Culp and H. S. Johnson (in Orange).

Tomorrow, they get closer home, with three Santa Ana weddings on the calendar—Lee Fernandez and Ralph Culp; Fern Farmer and John Willis; Mary Helen Bell and John McWethy.

Every girl grows up with some idea of the kind of wedding she would like to have—but often changes her mind when it comes right down to it. Many dream of gorgeous church weddings, with veils and orange blossoms, and then elope to Yuma or some other favorite Gretna Green. I thought of a simple garden wedding or Yuma, but was married instead in a church ceremony, wearing my mother's wedding dress, a veil, and orange blossoms.

This June weather, though, and the expected hotter days in July, has caused us to have at least one lovely garden wedding this summer.

Graduation from high school this year meant a variety of futures for our young friends. Going perhaps farther from home, as she takes this important step into the world is Muriel Engelke, who will spend the summer on the east coast and in far eastern Canada and then matriculate at Penn State college in the fall to major in physical education.

One of Santa Ana's teachers is also going a long way—Gretchen Liebermann, who leaves Sunday for New York City, whence she will sail on the S. S. Lafayette for Germany, France and Switzerland. She will return home early in September, in time for school's opening.

And those of us who are not going away are turning our eyes and steps often to Orange county's marvelous beaches, which are good vacations in themselves.

Tomorrow we salute Father! And whether we salute him with a necktie or a handkerchief, or perhaps a new idea, our salute is a hearty one.

LIPPINCOTTS HOSTS AT TWO DINNERS

Mr. and Mrs. George Lippincott have been hosts at two delightful dinner parties this week in their home on West Fourth street, carrying out a pink and white color motif on Tuesday when their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Olen Turner, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Vernon, and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jacoby.

Last night, they presided at another gathering, this time honoring three birthdays, those of Mrs. Kenneth King, Edward J. Opper, and of the host, and carrying out an orange and white motif.

Their guests at this second affair were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ashland, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Opper, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth King.

TO INITIATE
Hermosa Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will have initiation and Brothers' night at the Masonic temple Monday at 8 p. m.

One of yesterday's lovely social events was a tea given by Mrs. K. H. Sutherland in her home on Riverside drive as a farewell courtesy to Miss Mary Porter, who is resigning her position here as executive secretary of the Girl Reserves.

Miss Mary Howard, who, as secretary of the Young Women's Christian association, has been closely associated with Miss Porter during the latter's three years in "Y" work here, assisted Mrs. Sutherland in hostess duties, as did also Miss Mabel McFadden, Miss Margaret Fine, Miss Lena Thomas and Mrs. Dixon Guthrie, also active in the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Guthrie, who is the new president of the board, and Miss McFadden, the past president, during whose terms Miss Porter's years of service here fell, presided at the pretty tea table, which was spread with a linen cloth of a gold hue and centered with a low bowl of single asters and Mexican poppies and two ivory tapers in topaz crystal holders.

During the informal tea hours, from 3 to 5 o'clock, Mrs. Glenn Tidball read two poems which she had written especially for the occasion, and Miss Katherine Budd played a group of piano solos.

A lovely gift, a silver, monogrammed dresser set, was presented to Miss Porter as a farewell gift and an expression of the fine work she has done for the local Girl Reserve branch of the Y. W. C. A.

Invited guests, members of the Y. W. C. A. board and Girl Reserve committee members, were as follows:

Misses Mary Andrews, Katherine Budd, Mary Ford, Nora Reid, Ruth Gordon, Genevieve Humiston, Mary Schofield, Margaret Fine, Boyd Joplin, Alma Karlsson, Mabel McFadden, Roma Newman, Vanche Plumb, Lena Thomas, Ella Vezie and Mrs. Howard, and the Mesdames George Angne, Ray Adkinson, Dexter Ball, W. E. Dixon, Clyde Downing, Braden Finch, Marie Fowler, E. D. Froeschel, J. C. Gardiner, Hugh Gerard, Clarence Gustlin, Dixon Guthrie, John Henderson, H. J. Howard, Grace Lund, Glenn Tidball, Quentin Matzen, Hubert Nalle, A. Budd, Fred Jayne, A. B. Tessee, Cotton Mather, John McCoy, A. J. McFadden, P. F. Schrock, C. F. Smith, Edith Thatcher, M. B. Wellington and W. B. Williams.

The hostess, Mrs. Sutherland, was chairman of the Girl Reserve committee during most of the years of Miss Porter's work here.

MUSIC AND READINGS ON PROGRAM

Hermosa Past Matrons' association has been invited to hold its next meeting, on July 15, at the home of Mrs. Maude Winbigler, 207 East Ninth street, and are to gather for luncheon at 12 noon, instead of at 12:30 as usual.

The invitation came to the association meeting and luncheon held Thursday in the Masonic temple, when Mrs. Jennie Peek, Mrs. Grace Wilson, Mrs. Ella Strassberger, and Mrs. Martha Medlock acted as co-hostesses.

The afternoon program was opened with three lovely solos by Miss Beulah Parker, including "Life," for which the singer had composed the music. She was accompanied by Miss Mildred Marchant.

Mrs. M. E. Geeting favored with three readings, two of them delightfully humorous.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, worthy matron of Hermosa Eastern Star chapter, was a guest, and the members present were the Mesdames Minnie Atkinson, Kate Barker, Amber Burke, Frances Brooks, Ida Dunphy, Grace Finn, Minnie Holmes, Lella Jones, Vera Jacoby, Elizabeth Moore, Martha Medlock, Irene Mitchell, Lois Peck, Fannie Reeves, Martha Reinhaus, Ella Strassberger, Mae Thomas, Jannette Terwilliger, Grace Wilson, Marion Wallace, and Maude Watson.

Mrs. Farnsworth Introduces New Daughter at Party

Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth opened her home at 2219 North Broadway for another delightful social affair yesterday afternoon when she honored her son's bride, Mrs. Edward Farnsworth, Jr., at a charming luncheon and afternoon of contract. Mrs. Oliver Halsell brought beautiful flowers and arranged them for her friend, and Mrs. W. D. Ranney present lovely pansies which beautified the small luncheon tables.

Mrs. Edward Hall assisted in hostess duties, as did also Mrs. Farnsworth's sister, Miss Mary Thompson.

After the delicious luncheon, contract was played and prizes awarded at the close to Mrs. Tuttle, first; Mrs. Hays, second, and Mrs. Stanley Anderson, third; and a guest prize was presented to the honor guest.

Invited to honor the charming newcomer to the city, whose wedding was a brilliant social event in Los Angeles at the Easter season, were the following:

Mrs. Otto K. Olesen of Hollywood, mother of the honored guest; Mesdames Aroid Norton, Glenn Mathis, Lynn Norton, Wilbur Barr, William Jeffery, Clarence Ranney, Frank Curran, Jr., Harold Harrison, Rollo Hays, Jr., F. C. Harrington.

Mesdames Kingsley Tuttle, Chad Harwood, Don Harwood, Richard Winckler, Chester Horton, Joel Ogile, Wayne Harrison, Albert Harvey, Terry Stephenson, Jr., Leland Finley, Edward Hall, Crawford Nalle, Calvin Flint, Francis Selway, H. L. Hill, Jr., C. H. Holles.

Mesdames E. F. Elstrom, John P. Scripps, Franklin West, Stanley Anderson, Stanley Norton, Joseph Smith, Jr., Fred Forgy, Kenneth Conner, Emrys White, Jr., and Fred Burlew, and the Mesdames Lolita Mead, Patricia McClure, Betty Mellenthin, Harriet Rutan and Mary Thompson.

MISS MATHES TO SPEND SUMMER IN CHINA

Departure of Miss Marjory Anne Mathes, local grade teacher for China on June 26 was incentive for a gay party this afternoon at which Mrs. Ivan Belman (Margery Adams) was hostess at her Newport Beach home. Miss Mathes will spend the summer in Tientsin with Miss Catherine Harr, who was a fellow member of Alpha sorority at Occidental college.

Participating in the afternoon of beach sports and bridge were other sorority sisters of the hostess and honor guest. Late in the day a buffet supper was served with a cleverly made travel scene centerpiece on the table, and place-cards and bridge tallies in similar notation are asked to call Miss Mathes by the group.

Guests of Mrs. Belman were Mrs. A. F. Mack, Jr., Mrs. William McMathers, Miss Geraldine Hale and Mrs. Allan Sedgwick of Los Angeles; Mrs. Marie Helene Smith of Beverly Hills; Mrs. Gerald Kendall of Glendale; Mrs. Hal Sanders of South Pasadena; Miss Ruth Ferry and Miss Eleanor Tuttle of Monrovia; Mrs. Richard Boronda of La Jolla, and Miss Jet Tucker of Long Beach.

THIRD TRAVEL SECTION PLANS DAY AT LAGUNA

Third travel section of Santa Ana Travelers will go to Laguna next Friday for a one o'clock luncheon at the Hotel Laguna and a program of interesting travel accounts by two returned vacationers.

The speakers of the afternoon will be Mrs. C. P. Boyer, who has recently come back from an around-the-world trip, and Mrs. S. A. Jones, who has returned from a trip to the Orient.

In charge of arrangements for the day are Mrs. A. M. Gardner, Mrs. C. H. Jeffrey, and Mrs. J. L. Stephenson. Those desiring transportation are asked to call Mrs. Gertrude Minor, 4075-M, or Mrs. M. M. Holmes.

FOUR FETED AT BREAKFAST

Four McKinley teachers were feted at a lovely breakfast this morning by their fellow-teachers, for four widely varied reasons. Miss Marjory Anne Mathes is leaving to spend the summer in China. Mrs. Dorothy Erickson has resigned from teaching, Miss Beryl Hatch has been granted a year's leave of absence, and Miss Clarice Marx will go to Spurgeon school to teach next year.

Pretty farewell gifts were presented to each by the group, who included Miss Mary Andrews, Miss Katherine Vaughn, Miss Katherine Chapman, Miss Emma Hasty, Miss Gertrude Potts, Mrs. Evangeline Stark and Mrs. Donna Ward.

GRADUATE IS COMPLIMENTED

Miss Mary Mattson, a mid-year graduate of Santa Ana Junior college who came from San Diego to participate in Commencement activities this week, was guest of honor at a little dinner party in the William A. Paxton home Thursday evening.

Guests of the Paxtons were Miss Hazel Nell Beumus, Miss Farla Nell Clayton, Miss Dorothy Coe, the Mesdames Mary and Peggy Paxton, and Miss Mattson.

THORNE IN THE FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE
"Honor Thy Father..."

We have been studying the story of Joseph as recorded in Genesis. Today we reach the climax of this story of the family of Jacob, in which Joseph plays the leading part, the family that for these years has been living under a cloud of sorrow and deception, where the sons were living a lie and the parent was believing it. Guilt and fear had been haunting one group, and remorse and question the other. But now we have the "lost sheep" found and reconciliation and the home reunited in peace and happiness. It has been a long road and the price has been great, but the price of sin and redemption is always great.

This is Father's day. And here in this story from Genesis we have a great picture of devotion and consideration for the aged, particularly of sons for their father. As is so often the case, in their treatment of Joseph more than 20 years ago, these boys did not have the consideration for their father they should have had—even as you and I are guilty—and we have seen the results that such a lack of consideration will bring about. Such is always the case. But these boys' hearts are now changed as we have seen in their recent attitude, and especially in Judah's plea.

Why is it that youth is so careless and thoughtless regarding age in general and fathers in particular? What different homes we would have, how different would be old age if youth only understood, and instead of casting their parents aside would realize that dad has been over the road, and knows the pitfall's and hard places. Why can't we realize, at least when there is doubt, that dad's advice may be the result of his own personal—perhaps bitter—experience, and that he is now hoping to save us from pitfalls ahead! Our attitude toward our parents is a strong indication of our character.

After Joseph had made himself known to his brethren, his next step was the arranging to bring his father down into Egypt where he could care for him the rest of his days. While he continues his work in caring for the Egyptians, the center of our story concerns his own family—the saving and caring for this seed of Abraham—which had been promised. Joseph made the arrangements and sends for the rest of the family "back home."

YOUR FATHER
A father hides his hurts as a warrior hides his wounds. He may suffer a whole lot of disappointments, but he wears his heart turned outside in. You will probably never know his hurts—though he has them, nevertheless.

His voice will not betray his inmost thoughts, for he is a real man. His face may reflect pride, love, joy; there is mysteriousness about your father when it comes to things that hurt, but do not think for one moment that he has no heart. It is bigger than you think. He is nature's gift as your private banker.

How often have you regarded the prohibitive mind of your father as a wall between you and some pleasure, and have found it later a shield to protect you, to lead you to higher happiness?

Have faith in your father, for he knows. He is not an angel—nor does he want to be one just now. He wants to be a support, a living help, and you know he has been.

When you help your father, you help yourself. He is the man who hurried home when you were a baby, and held you while you kicked. Why kick now against him? Why not recognize him as being more than a cash register?

Dad is your friend. Benjamin Franklin once said: "My father convinced me that nothing was useful which was not honest." He had a good father, and there's no doubt that your father today is a better man than you are. If he isn't, I owe you an apology and I'm glad of it.

When the boys reached home, and informed their father that Joseph was alive and was now governor of Egypt and had sent for him, he could not believe it. Explanation and confession on their part and seeing that which Joseph had sent him was convincing and the journey began. On the way Jacob stopped at Beersheba and stopped to worship and offer sacrifice. It may be that he had some misgivings about going down into Egypt for Egypt was not the promised land. And why should he leave Canaan to go there? Abraham had gotten into trouble when he went there in time of famine and Isaac had had a similar experience when he went to Gerar in time of famine. No doubt he had grounds for fear, but "God spake unto him and said: fear not to go..." So Jacob continued his journey.

Joseph went to the border to meet him and what a beautiful and sacred scene is described in a few words. Wouldn't it be wonderful if we might all witness such a scene as this meeting of father and son? The pent up sorrow of long years, the haunting fears of doubt, the aching void of many months—all is now at an end. A beautiful picture, as father and son are clasped in fond embrace. But many of us have our fathers and mothers yet with us. Do we appreciate them as we ought and before it is too late? Would it not be better if more frequently we expressed our love in practical and helpful ways? Let us formulate the answer in deeds of action.

Joseph now arranges for his people in the land of Goshen, the richest pasture land of Egypt. The Egyptians despised shepherds, so this location somewhat separated them and lessened the danger of being carried away from their religion. Joseph also brings his aged father to the palace and introduces him to Pharaoh. I've an idea Joseph was proud of his father. Aren't you of yours? I am of mine. God bless all fathers who are worthy of their children's pride!

Joseph is a great example of kindness particularly in the family. He showed this kindness to his brothers. If anyone ever had any ground for hatred and the opportunity for revenge, it was Joseph. He had been cruelly mistreated by these brothers who were heartless and deaf to his cry. Now he had them fully in his power they were in desperate need and he was in the place to aggravate their offerings and execute judgment. His kindness appeared rather unkind at first. He spoke roughly, seemed to falsely accuse them and embarrassed them in his presence—but this was all done in kindness and needed to reach the desired end. Real kindness is always to the end of helpfulness.

Joseph was kind in his attitude toward and treatment of his aged parent. What greater and more worthy thing may children do than to so live and be helpful to their aged parents, to comfort and bring happiness to them in their aging years? To honor parents is included in the list of divine commandments. To neglect or be unkind to parents is a sin.

"ANNIE WISE" HAS BEEN USED AS A MELODY FOR ALMA MATER SONGS BY 17 COLLEGES AND OVER 100 SCHOOLS

THE SCHOOLGIRL'S MASTERPIECE "CURFEW MUST NOT RING TONIGHT," ONE OF THE BEST KNOWN POEMS IN THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE, WAS WRITTEN ON HER SLATE BY ROSE HARTWICK - A 16-YEAR-OLD GIRL! - 1867-

Crossword Puzzle

By LARS MORRIS

SCHOOLGIRL'S MASTERPIECE

"England's sun was slowly setting o'er the hill tops far away. Filling all the land with beauty at the close of one sad day;

And its last rays kissed the forehead of a man and maiden fair, He with steps so slow and weary, she with sunny, floating hair; He with bowed head, sad and thoughtful; she, with lips all cold and white,

Struggled to keep back the murmur: "Curfew must not ring tonight!"

"The Curfew Bell," better known today as "Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight" written by Rose Hartwick, a high school student of Litchfield, Michigan.

Written in April, 1867, the poem was forgotten for a while, then picked up several years later and published in a Detroit newspaper. An overnight sensation, it was republished throughout America.

Judge Stump

Dear Judge: Did you ever see an interview or a speech in the news reels that didn't make the talker look awfully silly?

E. B. C. Bathay News Acel, "The Eyes, Ears, Nose, Throat, Adenoids and Tonsils of The World," has achieved a process which keeps the subject of news reel interviews from looking silly. Bathay just asks the person who is talking to hold his hat in front of his face. That way his face can't be seen, and he goes on talking through his hat the same as before.

An Open Letter To J. C. Grads

DEAR young friends: Today's world looks tough to you, we learn from a reporter who has just written an interview with several of you and lassies who now possess diplomas from the local Junior college.

You don't like the outlook for jobs, and you blame the depression.

We want to point out one thing, however, which might be an antidote for this understandable case of the blues. Every generation has its problems.

The pioneer boys and girls who came West in the early days with their families found a wilderness; they had to toil long and hard to turn it into civilization.

That was tough to swallow.

At least two generations were launched in the midst of war. And even today in veterans hospitals you can find the pitiful wrecks of men who once were bright young graduates.

Pretty tough to sacrifice your life in a foolish war.

Just before the last depression started, a bunch of youngsters went to work at high salaries. Then the bubble burst, and they landed 'way back down the hill. Some of them aren't making today what they were then. Some of them don't even have jobs.

That's tough, too.

It doesn't do any good to wish you had been born earlier or later in this strange world. For every generation has its problems.

And in each of these generations, the boys and girls who have gone ahead have been those who stood the thorns the best they could, and concentrated their time and work on producing a good crop of roses.

That same principle holds good today.

The world looks tough to you. It is tough; has always been tough.

But with the right amount of headwork, courage and persistence—you can go ahead—just as millions of youngsters have done in the generations preceding this one.

Your friend,

THE EDITOR.

If we are running out of ideas for the unemployed, why not put them to work digging shellholes for the next war?

Steel Firms Wise To "Cooperate"

INDEPENDENT steel companies which are denying the right of their workers to organize for collective bargaining at last have indicated that they will "cooperate" with the federal government's new mediation board, appointed by Madame Perkins with F.D.R.'s approval.

These firms are wise. They would not have gained anything but trouble by continuing to hold out against a labor program that already has contracts with 140 producing, fabricating and manufacturing firms in the steel game, including the United States Steel.

Further resistance, as conservative Walter Lippman points out, in the San Bernardino Sun, is "altogether shortsighted, capable of embittering the industrial conflict and of delaying constructive solution" of our labor problems.

Organized labor is here in big business to stay. Reactionary employers might as well get wise to the change of the times.

A legislator spends half his time thinking up ways to collect money and the other half of ways to spend it.

Over The Roof Of The World

THERE'S a thrill for even the most land-struck, ground-groveling old mossback in the news that a plane load of Soviet aviators is zooming from the North Pole to San Francisco.

Whether you like the flavor of Russian politics or not, you'll have to admit the Muscovites are going places in the air.

Russia is the only nation whose transport planes swoop behind the enemy lines and drop a cargo of 1000 soldiers in parachutes.

Russia is the only nation which has mastered the secret of flying giant aircraft without damage—as yet—in the polar regions.

And if those U.S.S.R. explorers swoop down on San Francisco in the next few hours after a jaunt over the top of the world—the whole state should toss its hat up in the air and give them a royal welcome.

Anyway, the Du Pont-Roosevelt wedding is one union that John L. Lewis didn't promote.

Seawall In Newest Accomplishment

DOWN at fast-growing Newport-Balboa, it's a dull month that doesn't see some outstanding civic improvement completed.

The latest is the new $200,000 Balboa Island seawall which will be dedicated tomorrow amid a flurry of bathing beauties, boat races and high officials.

And it's some seawall. Already—even though undedicated—it has kept a couple of high tides from washing through the streets and dampening the feet of the islanders.

With the new dike, the new puzzle crossing and the recently completed yacht harbor, Newport-Balboa can give lessons in progress to any community in the U.S.A.

Make a date with the wife and kids to take them to the Air Show tomorrow.

Taking the Words Out of Our Mouth

"WE CAN'T go on forever. I can't understand why congress should impose no restrictions (on relief appropriations) when the federal debt is the highest in our history."

That quotation is from Senator Robinson. He expresses the sentiments of most Americans with amazing accuracy.

DAY

With
O. O.
McINTYRE

In one of those plays as aloof and polite as a private lake this winter I saw a chaise longue which was the only piece of household furniture I ever coveted. Enormously long, low hung and deeply cushioned, it swept up into a swirl of majestic gilt headboard that spelt grandeur.

The play was nothing but I went back three times to see what after all, shucked of pretty language, was just a beautiful big divan. I found it belonged to a famous collection, was rented and the sale price was prohibitive. So I had a copyist, with the owner's consent, turn out a cheaper version.

It came this morning. And all day I've tried to be languid, stretching out on it in my purple house robe from Charvet in Place Vendôme, aching to look pale and interesting. And hoping somebody would drop in I'd like to impress so I could stretch forth a wan hand and murmur "So good of you, really."

I'd like also to have long wavy locks to trickle my fingers through. But that's out. There's scarcely a thin skin left. I have a morbid admiration for sickly languor. I've often longed to be a sort of he-Camille, but the nearest I ever got to it was to recuperate from the mumps on grandma's horse hair sofa.

It may be—and likely is—a press agent drawing a long bow, but I have several times read of a notorious playboy calling up a dizzy night club from a French seaside resort to hear the orchestra play his favorite tune. Such idiocies bring out vandalism and mayhem. With the head of the world, for a waster to display that sort of $500 extravagance makes me want to burn down the night club and serve as the No. 1 whipping boy.

I've wondered at times when the head waiter of a high-class cafe one who gives intimate service. The other night I questioned Bernard, celebrated among gourmets. I learn it is a custom for such experts to eat after all patrons have been served for the night. The psychology is simple but obvious. The head waiter is to be enthusiastic, must have a razor edge to his appetite so he can appropriately and realistically oo-la-la as he lifts the silver lids from this dish and that. The great Vatel said: "If you look at a waiter can expertly serve the hungry with a well-fed stomach."

Newspaper men are generally pleased that M. H. Aylesworth, the radio chieftain, has become a member of the clan. Most reporters spell his widely known nickname Deke, which is error. It is Deacon, short for Deacon—a frequent sobriquet for a clergyman's son. Aylesworth has always since his rise in radio been partial to newspaper men. His closest friend is Kent Cooper, the A. P. chieftain, and he has long been a friend of Roy Howard and Bill Hawkins, with whom he is now associated. An unsmiling, glum looking fellow, he has a dry sense of humor that crackles unexpectedly. He began his career as a lawyer in a small Colorado town.

I know of no one so nimble on his banquet feet as George Jessel, unless it is Bugs Baer. It all depends upon which one I heard last. If it is Jessel, I think he has the top honors and if it's Baer, ditto. They are certainly the best since Francis Patrick Murphy. And there is no one who, when called upon to do a bit of ad libbing at a banquet, can perform more expertly than Al Jolson. More than anyone of his time, he can catch the mood of the crowd and make it lie down, sit up and play dead. He is far better in such emergencies, in my opinion, than ever he is over the radio or on the screen and stage. There is a fusion of great artistry in Jolson when he lets himself go before a small and appreciative audience. And at other times he will appear hopelessly mawkish.

I was thinking today that, come the revolution, I'd like to ride to the guillotine in the same turmoil with somebody who expressed the placidity and magnificent austerity of Chief Justice Hughes. Somehow I don't imagine I'd go to the guillotine well, but one simply couldn't moan and wring his hands in the presence of such dignity.

Bright Moments

A man went to a summer resort hotel on the New Jersey coast and signed up to stay 10 weeks. After a few days he approached the proprietor and said:

"I can't stand it here any longer. The fish you had on Friday was not fit for a cat, and the meat you had on Sunday was not fit for a dog. Besides, the portions were altogether too small."—Wall Street Journal.

A well considered plan of citizens interested in seeing the city keep up with the procession in the way of street improvement was again blocked last night and well nigh rendered entirely abortive by the stubborn refusal of certain property owners on North Bush street to agree to stand their share of the cost of paving that thoroughfare between Tenth street and Washington avenue and again between Ninth and Tenth streets.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—There is much covert opposition in congress to the President's wage-hour regulation bill, but in this fight he has one powerful advantage which he lacks completely on the supreme court issue.

Not only is he sure of decisive majorities in the house and senate labor committees, which are handling the legislation, but the chairman of both bodies wholeheartedly favor it and are aggressive, able parliamentarians.

The committees and their chairman are of utmost importance in the career of any bill. For so controversial a measure as the wage-hour proposal, they may mean the difference between life and death.

The President is especially fortunate in having Chairman Hugo Black of the senate labor committee to lead his battle in that chamber. The Alabama is a feacious scrapper and one of the ablest parliamentarians in congress. Also, as a southerner he will carry much weight in countering resistance from that section.

The opposition to the legislation in some form. Privately, however, conservative employer elements who are opposed to all labor laws, and southern interests.

The southerners, for the most part, are not against the bill per se, but they fear that it will put a damper on their rapidly expanding industrial development. Many northern plants are moving to the south because of its cheap, unorganized labor, and the southern congressmen and senators are afraid the administration measure will slow down or halt this trend.

It is certain to be enacted in some form. Privately, however, the leaders are worried that it will be whittled down or encumbered with restrictive amendments.

They are prepared to make concessions but are determined to prevent any fundamental change. To safeguard the bill they are counting on the theory that once it gets on the floors of congress, the members will fear political reprisals from labor and be chary about voting against it.

Note.—The hearings on the legislation brought two new members into prominence: Florida's Senator Claude Pepper and Texas Representative Albert Thomas. Both men won high praise from colleagues for their able discussion of the issue.

SEC VOTE It has not leaked out yet, but Chairman Jim Landis of the Securities and exchange commission has become the center of a conspiracy to block the appointment of William O. Douglas as his successor.

Landis is leaving soon to become dean of the Harvard law school. His doctors have prescribed a long rest before he takes up his new duties, so he plans to leave the commission in July.

Nevertheless, Landis has just been reappointed to the SEC for a period of five years.

There was only one reason for this. Next June 30, the SEC votes on who is to be Landis' successor. Since his term expired June 6, Roosevelt had to reappoint him if Jim were to remain in office 24 more important days—in order to vote for the new chairman.

And Landis—in line with his recent Wall street leanings—plans to throw his vote to Commissioner George Matthews, also a Wall street leaner.

One Man's Opinion

By X REPORTER

When my box score is finally tallied in this funny game called life I want it to show, among my other feeble achievements, that I convinced several women, chiefly relatives, that they actually were better looking without permanent waves.

This may sound like an utter impossibility to the other male members of the species who have tried it. That's why I want my success made a matter of record. There is no royal road to the success I have achieved in this particular and peculiar field of endeavor. If there were a recipe for it, I should seek to publish it in letters high and bold.

The whole enterprise lies in the misty region of exploration, and each artificially curled head is a new world to conquer. Each case is decidedly—and sometimes bafflingly—different.

What started me off on my strange crusade was seeing the inside of a large hairdressing shop at the peak of a permanent wave rush. I'm not even going to begin to try to describe what I saw there. If Dante were alive perhaps he could do the subject justice—but not this poor pen, that is typewriter.

Let it suffice to say that I was dazed for hours by the horrid sight, and that I still cringe when it looms again in my memory.

Ever since I was a tow-headed kid in the first grade I've somehow looked upon myself as one who would willingly die to save any lady from torture, or despair, or other evil fate.

So the sight of row upon row of fair ladies trussed up like foals for the market and undergoing all manner of degrading, sizzling, twisting, pounding and cutting—in the name of beauty—got me down.

I was tempted to copy the tactics of Carrie Nation, take a couple of hatchets and wreck the place—liberating, of course, all the prisoners.

The very dickens of it all is that the ladies—bless 'em—seemed to like the torture. They go back week after week, and oftener and oftener.

But meanwhile, subtly I've convinced a few of them that straight hair becomes their style of beauty—which it does. Would that I had the power to fling around the world the slogan, "Gentlemen dislike curls."

The Mailbag

CORRECTS ERROR

To the Editor: In the June 15th (Wednesday) issue of The Journal there appeared an article entitled "Salary Increase Denied Dr. Russell." This article contained a statement to the effect that I had inferred that I practiced deception in an effort to induce the board of supervisors to increase my salary. The inference was so clear that a dozen or more of my friends called to find out what it was all about.

The substance of the article was that the supervisors have discovered that the position (health officer, Ventura county) which I represented as offering $4000 per year had been filled at $2500. Hence, my claim of readjustment on my present salary of $2700 would have no validity. In short, I had misrepresented the position which I had declined. In the article, the statement was ascribed to the board of supervisors, collectively, as follows: "We reported to the board of supervisors that we had accepted the position I declined. The letter is certified by the auditor of Ventura county. Dr. Wylie states that his compensation is not $2500 but $4000 a year."

I know most of the gentlemen on the board and it is my opinion that not one of them would be guilty of misrepresentation of fact or the invention of idle gossip. I am sure they realize that the greater the position, the more dangerous idle talk becomes.

The question of fact is effectively settled by a letter which is on file in my office. It is from Dr. Charles R. Wylie, who accepted the position I declined. The letter is certified by the auditor of Ventura county. Dr. Wylie states that his compensation is not $2500 but $4000 a year.

Some will ask why I refused $4000 per year to stay on at $2700 plus a promise of readjustment. The answer is that it is common for physicians to work for objectives other than money. Scientific investigation and social welfare are the most frequent "other objectives" for which physicians make financial sacrifices.

Physicians as a class, and with few individual exceptions, have a deep sense of social responsibility. Will you assist in correcting this error? EDW. LEE RUSSELL, M. D., Director, Division of Child Hygiene.

RIDICULES JAYWALKERS

To the Editor: In the interest of public safety please allow me to offer the following suggestion: We have all been informed and most of us know the dangers of jaywalking. All efforts to stop this dangerous habit have failed so far, so why not let's make a game of it, to make us want to stop it?

Give me the chance to embarrass the other fellow and he will jump at the chance to embarrass me.

All you need do is launch a campaign that will start everyone in sight laughing and yelling "Hi-jay" or "Hi-rube" every time a jaywalker is sighted, point a finger at the offenders.

Can you imagine how you would feel if this happened to you? A. L. ROGERS.

FAIR Enough

Citizenship
at Bargain
Prices

By
Westbrook
Pegler

WASHINGTON.—You cannot appreciate the nature of those congressmen who voted against the local Washington income tax in their own salaries until you realize how small was the price for which they waived their precious right to share the burdens of citizenship.

Mr. Dirksen, the statesman from Pekin, Ill., who fought for the adoption of the tax, estimates on the basis of considerable study, that the average burden on himself and his colleagues would be no more than $25 or $30 a year. Nevertheless, the boys refused even to consider the tax bill, although all of them are exempt from the state income tax, if any, in their own districts.

Mr. Dies, of Texas, who voted against consideration, is entitled to rather special advantages, even for a congressman. Not only is he exempt from the state income tax, of which Texas has none, but he lives in one of the tight spots, having community property law. This law was the subject of particular complaint in Mr. Roosevelt's recent message on the subject of avoidance and evasion through technicalities having the color of legality.

SOFT FOR TEXANS

It is the law which holds that man and wife each receive half of his income for the purposes of tax computation, a peculiarity which enables the citizens of Texas to cut their federal taxes by more than half in certain brackets.

Nevertheless, Mr. Dies said: "I am not willing to submit to it (the proposed district income tax) in addition to the federal and state income taxes, and I see no reason why members of congress should not frankly state their position regardless of any criticism they may receive from the newspapers in the district."

Mr. Dies' willingness to pay a share of the tax, with a purely hypothetical tax, of course, but he said it was not right and just to impose an income tax on congressmen for the support of the city in which they live much of the time, enjoying special privileges.

CONGRESSMEN PAINED

Mr. Dirksen caused severe pain among some of his colleagues with his anti-social remarks. "I do not see," he said, "how you can have an income tax in the District of Columbia that is worthy of the members of congress and the members of the cabinet, as well as the federal employees. There are 127,000 federal employees in the district."

You know and I know that many of these have lived here 20 years and more. They use all of the services that are supplied by the municipality. When we suggest that they ought to pay something like a fair share of the cost of operating this municipality they throw up their hands in horror as if we were proposing to confiscate their property and their earnings.

"We talk about tax evasion and avoidance. This very day we have appointed a joint committee to investigate. We might stop right here on this matter of tax avoidance in order to bring the people (the 3,500,000 public employees in the entire country) within the purview of the federal and state income tax."

I regret to say that, owing to the inactivity of certain remarks of Congressman O'Connor, New York, these dispatches yesterday placed him on the side of those who opposed the tax. Mr. O'Connor voted with the minority for consideration of the bill, but on closer inspection of his subsequent remarks I can only make out whether he favored or opposed the tax on the salaries of congressmen.

THE NEW YORK RACKET

He was very angry at the wealthy tax-dodgers who come to Washington to avoid income taxes in their home states, and enjoy the low local tax rates, but I am unable to find in his remarks, other than his vote, an indication of his stand on the taxation of congressmen.

To give him the benefit of a doubt, it may be assumed that he is not unwilling to pay $25 or $30 a year, as estimated by Mr. Dirksen, for the enjoyment of the municipal services of Washington, and the special privileges which are accorded congressmen. This explanation, however, does not alter the fact that by a law which was slipped through the New York legislature with ostentation a few years ago, Mr. O'Connor is entitled to a state pension for his federal services as a congressman, although he is exempt from the state income tax on his salary.

This little political gem of a law is said to be a rarity and the envy of statesmen from all the other states of the Union. Perhaps I shouldn't have mentioned it. It might give other legislators the same idea.
